Marriage Notes

Probably the church in Groß Schwirsen, Rummelsburg, Pommern, Germany.

Notes

Martha's children with Johann - Erna, Gerhard, Gertrude, were teenagers in 1946 when the family fled Groß Schwirsen, Pommern. Erna stayed with her parents until her marriage in 1953. She remained the primary caregiver to her parents until their deaths.

Martha & Johann rented a home in "Groß Stöbnitz" Germany. (2005 spelling: "GroßStöbnitz")

Historical: Thuringia

(thoorIn´je) , Ger. Thüringen, state (1994 pop. 2,533,000), 6,273 sq mi (16,251 sq km), central Germany. It is bordered on the south by Bavaria, on the east by Saxony, on the north by Saxony-Anhalt and Lower Saxony, and on the west by Hesse. The region of Thuringia extends to the foot of the Harz Mts. in the north and is crossed by the Thuringian Forest, Ger. Thüringer Wald, which stretches from the Werra River in the west to the Thüringer Saale River in the southeast and rises to an altitude of 3,222 ft (982 m) in the Grosser Beerberg. Weimar (the capital), Jena, Gotha, Eisenach, Gera, Altenburg, Erfurt, Mühlhausen, and Suhl are the chief cities.
